New table tennis stadium at Parrs Park

23/02/2012

A new table tennis stadium is being built at Parrs Park in West Auckland.

The new stadium will be completed in time for the World Veterans Table Tennis Championships in 2014.

The Waitemata Table Tennis Association stadium will accelerate growth in the fast developing Parrs Park area and link in with Henderson's Waitakere Trusts' Stadium, which is the main venue for the international competition.

Waitakere Ranges Local Board is supporting Table Tennis New Zealand's successful bid to host the biennial championships, which is one of the world's largest table tennis events.

"The organisers say up to 3000 people representing 50 nations will take part in the five-day championships, so it is an event worthy of our support," says board Chairperson Denise Yates.

"We will continue to work with the Waitemata Table Tennis Association to secure whatever is needed to get on with the stadium project and help make the event happen."

The new 12-court stadium will replace an existing five-court stadium at Parrs Park.
